Build expertise at the speed of technology change.

93% of IT employers reported difficulty finding sufficient talent with open source skills.¹

Join a community of Red Hat® technology specialists and build the expertise to drive successful open source solutions for your customers.
The Red Hat Ascend Skills Network is a continuous learning and enablement program for partners

- Equip partners to drive successful digital transformation initiatives for their customers on Red Hat technologies
- Collaborate with specialists, leaders, and mentors within partner organizations and expand your capabilities on Red Hat technologies

The Red Hat Ascend Skills Network begins with a skills gap assessment within your organization

- Assess competency development needs and link training and enablement to targeted business outcomes
- Develop a strategic approach for closing skill gaps on Red Hat technologies
- Establish an organization-wide baseline metric for enablement

The Red Hat Ascend Skills Network is different

The Red Hat Ascend Skills Network was developed with unique touch points, from skills assessment to project readiness, to build a pool of Red Hat practitioners enabled with leading-edge, industry relevant skills.

Training at scale and continuous engagement

- Attract talent at scale and deploy self-sustaining programs
- Use a skill development model that syncs the path of enablement with the rate of change of technology
- Engage learners with bootcamps, expert talks, developer tools/resources, and webinars
- Employ better capability metrics: project readiness and customer demonstration capabilities
Partner benefits
